

1 THE CHAIRMAN: It is a bit startling to the 2 Chair, at least, to see the entire staff assembled as 3 they were for a picture a few moments ago when you
4 realize that that staff you saw is only the professional
5 staff. That is to say, not including the stenographic
6 staff. There are fifty members of the professional staff
7 at this time. I understand the problems involved in 8 retaining such a staff and perhaps none of us understand 9 why perhaps it takes us so long to get some of the 10 material that we want out very quickly. It takes a 11 great deal of man power to support a Convention that is 12 moving as rapidly as this one is and accomplishing as 13 much.

14 Delegate Marion.

15 DELEGATE MARION: Mr. President, if you were 16 startled just think how Delegate Malkus would have felt 17 had he been here today.

18 THE CHAIRMAN: Is Delegate Rybczynski in the 19 room?

20 DELEGATE RYBCZYNSKI: Yes, sir.

21 THE CHAIRMAN: The Chair hates to admit it, but
